Location, location, location...

At Hartman-Imbriale, LLP, we have three of them to serve you.

But when you can't come to us, we can bring the office to you. Hartman-Imbriale will make "house calls" to your real estate or lender office, or to your subdivision sales office, when your home closing needs call for it.

In nearly all cases there will be no additional cost to your customers for this service. Our mission is to provide you with the smooth, stress-free home closing transaction that you expect and deserve. That's why we provide comfortable offices at three locations or come to you and your customers if you are unable to travel to one of our offices.

Some Helpful Guidelines for a Smooth House Call

- Flexibility in scheduling your transaction
- Lender closing documents arrive in our office 24 hours prior to closing day and time
- On-site fax, copy and Internet capabilities
- On-site conference table candy (not required)

We are able to keep costs under control primarily when you are able to schedule your closings for morning or early afternoon, and on days other than Friday. But please remember we will always accommodate you whenever you need to close. We have been providing this service for our clients from the beginning, and we know how to make it happen smoothly and without delay.

Always Connected

As always, Hartman-Imbriale stays connected to you with the best and fastest technology available, with our online title and closing order form, and with our three-hour confirmation reply on all fax or e-mail title order requests.

We think you'll want to continue to bring your customers to one of our convenient closing offices. Each office is staffed with the friendliest people in the business. Our conference rooms are spacious (and filled with candy). And you will usually be done in less than an hour.

So next time your closing needs are far away, don't call another attorney's office—stick with the firm that knows you and cares for you and your customers. We'll come to you.
